PREFACE

Since the author no longer has the two-volume set of "Descendants of William Shurtleff" by Benjamin Shurtleff to refer to, he would very much appreciate the opportunity to buy a set from any one. The set that he formerly borrowed is in another city. These books would be a valuable aid to him, since he now plans to publish a Second Edition of "The Descendants of Luman Andros Shurtliff" about 1978--after he retires from railroad work. The 2nd edition would complete the genealogy of all families up to about the year 1976.

Myrtle Ballard Shurtliff suggested to the author that he write this book. He sincerely hopes that it is interesting and useful to many people.

Although the author has tried to be accurate in the recording of the data that he has received, and although he has had much help in proof-reading this information, he realizes that the book almost inevitably contains errors. He would be in your debt if you would write and give him any corrections. However, please do not send additions now, because, as stated above, he will write you and ask for all additional data when he is ready to write the Second Edition.

Mimeographed copies of the 100-page Journal of Luman Andros Shurtliff, 1807--1884, will be available in the near future. The author has read it and he is sure that every one will desire a copy to preserve the memory of this great man--it is most interesting and inspirational. For your copy of the "Journal of Luman Andros Shurtliff" contact Mrs. Harold J. McNeil
379 Hill Way
San Carlos, Calif.

Send corrections only to Alfred Shurtliff

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author is indebted to many hundreds of you descendants for your cooperation in sending the genealogical data of your immediate family and, in many cases, for sending the data of members of related families. Sarah L Burrup (Waddoups), Cordelia M Lamoreaux (Stapp), Semantha (Mattie) C Shurtleff (Agren), Wallace V Shurtleff, Alta L Shurtliff (Tillotson)(2 sketches), Ida A Shurtliff (Hoffman), Nellie E Stewart (Savage), Elsie M Jarman (Wilson) and Adelia Winsor (Shurtliff) have sent the author a life sketch. These sketches will be found to be very interesting and inspirational.

L Ellen Shurtleff (Burton); Daryl A Shurtleff (Gregersen); Ellen Agren, the author's aunt; Kathleen D Kelly (Nickell) and the author's three oldest children, Wayne, Lois and Allen have helped proof-read and/ or address correspondence. The author does appreciate their generosity of time.

SKETCHES OF ELSIE EMERGENE SHURTLIFF'S LIFE
by her daughter Sarah Lovina Burrup Waddoups

Elsie Emergene Shurtliff was born 25 June, 1871, at Harrisville, Weber Co., Utah, and was the youngest daughter of Luman Andros Shurtliff and Mary Eliza Adams and was the thirty-second child of Luman A. Shurtliff. She was left without a mother at the age of two. She lived at home until she was about 16 years old, then went to Downey, Idaho, to work for her sister Eliza Hancock. She was nicknamed Ella and went by that name all her later life.

When she was around 19 years old she went to Montana with Hattie Bybee as a cook for a haying crew for the Hancocks. They were gone three months. There they had quite an experience with a family of skunks. They decided to get rid of them by putting lye on their food but the skunks about got rid of them. They finally chased the skunks around with a kettle of hot water.

Elsie was the second wife of John Burrup. They were married in August, 1890, by a Justice of the Peace, Bill Homer, of Oxford, Idaho. They were married at John Burrup's sister's home, Mary Ann Hollewell, close where the Downata Hot Springs are. They lived on the slough for a while, then moved to the homestead 7 miles southeast from Downey, Idaho. They lived there until around 1906 to 1908, then bought a house and lot in Grant. They also bought another house and lot in Grant where they were living at the time of death.

John and Elsie were endowed in the Logan Temple 26 February, 1891. To this union was born 10 children, 7 boys and 3 girls. They are as follows:

Veda Emergene	born	26 May, 1892; died 8 March, 1894
John Lowell	"	21 Dec., 1893
Irvin Myrl	"	29 Nov., 1896; " 22 June, 1920

On August 22, 1958, there are 19 grandchildren living and 8 dead; 43 great grandchildren, 9 dead. John Burrup has 2 great great grandchildren.

John Burrup's first wife died when their baby was around 16 days old. When she was 5 years old she came to live with John Burrup and Elsie. Her name was Mary Elizabeth. She grew up and married Raymond Fox. They were blessed with six children, 3 boys and 3 girls; 27 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

A LIFE SKETCH OF LYDIA AMANDA SHURTLIFF
by her grandson, Wallace Vincent Shurtleff

On a bright sunny day, when things were the darkest for the Shurtliff family, when The Latter Day Saints were being driven out of Missouri, Lydia was born; this was the 1st day of August, 1838. She was the 5th child of the family of eight--seven girls and one boy, Lewis.

Her father is Luman Andros Shurtliff; her mother, Eunice Bagg Gaylord, died at the birth of her eighth child, and was buried with her child at Nauvoo, Ill., 7 Oct., 1845.

At Nauvoo they lived 4 blocks north of the temple. When she was six her mother taught her to read and write, two things that were very important. She went to the school that her father taught which totaled only about 3 months. She was very bright and could do most things that were needed.

On the 25th of Nov., 1845, her father married Altamira Gaylord, her mother's sister; she now had a step-mother who helped her and her sister and brother with their work.

When driven from Nauvoo in 1846 they went to Garden Grove, Iowa. Lydia was now eight years old.

In the fall of 1847 they moved to Winter Quarters where they lived for almost 4 years. Here Lydia had a pleasant time, plenty to eat and many nice companions.

Crossing the plains at the age of 13, she considered it a very nice time of her life. They were well fixed; everything went fine. She was very happy and contented.

About 3 years after they arrived in Salt Lake City, she married Vincent Shurtleff; she wasn't quite 17. At the age of 19 her first child was born. They named him Lewis Vincent; this was the 23rd of July, 1857. She has two other children--Haskell David born 18th of Feb., 1862; and died 28th of Nov., 1864 and Charles Henry born 30 Dec., 1868.

When her sister Ellen died at Riverside, Utah, 22 Dec., 1879, leaving a family of five small children, the youngest only 20 days old, she took them in to her home to raise as her own. These were the Lamoreaux children. She now had at home Charles. Her oldest boy was at Lonetree, Wyo. From now on she was known and loved as Aunt Lydia. On the 21st of May, 1897, her husband died. In 1900 she lived in Ogden and later on took in boarders.

I and my two sisters stayed with our grandma and went to school. I often watched her get the "Saturday Night" and her knitting, and read and knit and never look at the knitting until she came to the heel. We wore many of these stockings.

Later on she lived with my father and took care of our little sister and brother, Eunice and Casto; our mother had died.

When my father sold out in Ogden, she went to live with John Lamoreaux. She died at Salt Lake City.

I once asked her if she went hungry when they first came to the Salt Lake valley. She said, "No, we had enough to eat."

In closing I will say her life was one of labor and love.

A SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF NOAH LUMAN SHURTLEFF
by his daughter, Semantha Cornelia Shurtleff Agren

Noah Luman Shurtleff, the first child of Luman Andros and Altamira Gaylord Shurtleff, was born November 25, 1846, at Garden Grove, Iowa. Prior to his birth the Shurtleff family had passed through all the persecutions of mob violence and final expulsion of the Saints from their beloved city "Nauvoo the Beautiful."

On the 6th day of May, 1846, they crossed the Mississippi River in company with other Saints of like misfortune and journeyed west into unknown lands with only faith in their prophet's words as a guide to their ultimate destination. After thirty days of difficult travel in covered wagons behind fatigued oxen over an ill defined road westward, a distance of one hundred seventy miles, they arrived at a beautiful garden spot in the state of Iowa and there camped. This spot was named Garden Grove and later became the first stopping place of all the Saints on their pioneer trek across the plains to the valley of the mountains.

At Garden Grove the father planted garden seeds and then went into the timbers and cut logs for a house to shelter his dear ones. From these rough split logs he constructed a crude dwelling; the floor was of earth; the carpets were of hay and bark; split wood was used for a door and the windows were holes between the logs, and for a partition, a wagon cover was used. In one side of this cabin the motherless children by a former marriage were established and in the other side Noah's mother, Altamira took up her abode.

Just as they were thus comfortably located a call came to the father from Brigham Young to return to the west bank of the Mississippi River to rescue the unfortunate saints who without means of transportation or dwellings in which to live had been expelled from the state of Illinois, from their comfortable hard earned homes by the mobs of Nauvoo into the cold blasts of winter and were compelled to camp on the cold bleak banks of the river without food or shelter. With great misgivings the father obeyed the call of his leader and bid goodbye to his children and his wife, who was about to become a mother with her first-born child, and retraced his steps one hundred seventy miles east to the rescue.

During his absence, Altamira heroically faced the coming ordeal alone, hoping and praying for her husband's return before the day of childbirth, but he did not return and in this lonely little crude log cabin, while her husband was on his mission of mercy for others, Altamira gave birth to a son who was named Noah Luman in remembrance of his grandfather and in honor of his father. Shortly after his birth his father returned home and rejoiced over the birth of his son.

Because of the increased population in the camp by the addition of the poor suffering saints from the Mississippi River, a great shortage of food and clothing faced every member. Again the father was called to go back to the States on another mission of mercy to solicit help for the suffering saints at Garden Grove. He in company with a brother Hunt left his family and wife, with their babe of but two months of age, and was gone for three months until the 4th of May, 1847.

From Garden Grove, on the 24th of August of that same year, the family moved to Evans Camp and from there on the 19th of Oct. they journeyed west to the Missouri River. Later, on the 3rd of November, they crossed the river to Winter Quarters and there remained in poor circumstances until the 6th of April, 1848, when they removed to Kanesville, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, and there built another home of logs. Noah spent the next few years of his life in Kanesville, until on the 20th day of May, 1851, at the age of five years, he with his family crossed the plains and arrived in the Great Salt Lake Valley on the 23rd of September, 1851. Noah was baptized November 1, 1855, in Ogden, Weber County, Utah, by his father and confirmed a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and from then until his death was ever a faithful member.

Noah spent his youthful days void of anxiety or fear, unaware of hostilities around the log cabin, home of his mother, in childish play and performing household tasks with his younger brother and sisters, until again in the spring of 1858, the family was forced by the enemy to leave their homes and move south, beyond the intrusion and abuse of the army of a prejudiced government. Noah was now twelve years old and shared with his father the burden of a sick mother and small children upon the "move south" to Spanish Fork, Utah. The only place available was in a dugout under the ground. After thirty-eight days of discomfort and uncertainties, peace was made with the army and the Saints were given permission to return to their homes.

Upon their return to Ogden, Noah with his mother's family located on what is now the City Hall Square. He there helped his mother raise a patch of watermelons and braided straw and made hats which were sold to the immigrants who passed through Utah on their way to the California gold fields. Later Noah with his father and brother Francis and his Aunt Mary, his father's fourth wife, moved to Harrisville on their farm and lived in a wagon box until the fall of that year. From this time Noah, although but a youth, assumed the work of a man and was diligent in all of his labors to assist his father in tilling the soil, milking cows, harvesting, raising cattle andsugar cane, making molasses, tending and shearing sheep, hauling wood from the canyons, and making adobes from the clay and building houses to shelter his father's large family.

Notwithstanding his many and arduous labors he also worked diligently in church activities and was ever a comfort and protection to his mother. In his young manhood, at the age of eighteen years, he and his neighbor, Levi J. Taylor, a boy of fifteen, were ordained teachers and their district embraced every home from Ogden City limits nearly to the Hot Springs, and these boys were faithful in their calling. The many trials and hardships which came into the lives of his parents proved too great for the mother to endure and on the 9th of July, 1860, she separated from her husband. Noah, now a young man, soon after his parents' separation, made adobes and with his father's help built himself a two room house on a homestead near his father's place and there he and his mother lived until he married. In front of the house he built a blacksmith shop and he and his brother Francis operated that business for a time. On the 30th of March, 1863, Noah was ordained a Seventy by Joseph Young. In January, 1865, Noah received his endowments in the Salt Lake Endowment House. In 1870 he married Cornelia Samantha Hancock, daughter of Charles Brent and Priscilla Rawson Hancock. Samantha was born in Payson, Utah, Utah, August 16, 1852. In July of 1870 with $2.00 in his pocket, which he had borrowed from his father for wedding expenses, Noah mounted the seat of a lumber wagon with his bride-to-be by his side and drove over hot dusty roads to Salt Lake City, taking a day for the journey, and there on the 18th of July, 1870, they were married in the Salt Lake Endowment House by Daniel H. Wells. The day after their marriage Noah worked in the fields all day for his father cutting hay with a hand scythe to pay back his loan for his wedding trip. The following day Cornelia's father-in-law called on her and asked,"Can you knit and weave and spin?" The bride replied, "I guess I can; I have done it all of my life." "Noah will be all right then," he said "for he has sheep." The little bride washed, corded and spun wool into thread and yarn, knit their socks, wool blankets and even wove material for sheets and jeans for her husband. When their children came she made her boys suits. Her mother-in-law, Altamira, was a good seamstress and helped cut and fit the suits and thus the young couple were able to care for their needs.

In 1870 Noah went into partnership with his brother Francis and his brother-in-law, Charles B. Hancock, Jr., and they operated a sawmill in Ogden Canyon.

Their second son, Noah Walter, died very suddenly when he was not yet one year old.

In Sept. 1874, Noah was called by Brigham Young, George A. Smith and Daniel H. Wells, the First Presidency of the Church, to go on a short-term mission among relatives in Missouri, Ohio, New York and Massachusetts, for the purpose of seeking genealogy. Their money was scarce. They sold their sheep and it took all they could get to pay his way to Boston and return. On Oct. 24th, 1874, he was set apart for his mission and he left Nov. 15th. (Noah's diary gives a detailed report of his travels and experiences and also a report of the money spent.)

Prior to Noah's mission, the Harrisville school trustees had hired Elmer Chase, a gentile teacher, to teach in the adobe school house. The pioneer fathers did not want their children to be taught by an outsider; so Luman A. Shurtliff, Pleasant Green Taylor, Levi J. Taylor and others went to Noah's wife, Cornelia, and asked her if she would teach a school class in her home. She gladly consented to do this as she was lonely due to the recent loss of her baby and the coming separation from her husband because of his mission. This would not only fill her hours, but also pay her for her time spent. Slabs were taken and put together with legs fastened on them which served as benches and these were placed in Cornelia's kitchen to serve as a school room. School started the first of Dec. following Noah's departure for his mission. There were twenty-five scholars in attendance. Of his mission Cornelia wrote in her own diary that it was a lonesome time for her, but she taught for four months and enjoyed her work, as it gave her a feeling of accomplishment and knowledge that she was bearing her share of the mission call.

Upon his return from his mission Noah was made asst. superintendent of the Harrisville Sunday School where he served faithfully until he was called on his second mission. March 21st, 1877, Noah started cutting stone for the Salt Lake Temple. June 14th, 1879, he was called to go on a mission to the Southern States by John Taylor, President of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. Again he left his wife and family, two boys, eight and two years of age, and a girl four years old. Before leaving for his mission, he was given a Patriarchal Blessing under the hands of his father, Luman Andros Shurtliff. Noah left for his mission July 17th, 1879, and after laboring successfully her was honorably released to return to his home Feb. 8th, 1881. During these eighteen months, Noah again had the privilege and joy of proclaiming The Gospel.to his people in Ohio and also gathering genealogy. During the winter of 1881, Noah served as assistant school teacher in the old adobe school house to Levi J. Taylor, who was principal of the Harrisville school. In 1882 he was called to act as President of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association where he served until he was called into the Bishopric. In 1885 Noah was called as second counsellor to Bishop Pleasant Green Taylor of the Harrisville Ward, which position he filled honorably until he was called to go to Canada in 1888. During the summer of 1886, Noah worked in the timber and sawmills in Oregon with his brother Francis. In 1888 Noah was called to go upon a mission to help colonize Canada. At this time he entered into polygamy when he took as his second wife, Mary Ann, daughter of William J. and Mariah Mortinson Saunders. They were married in the Logan Temple and immediately after their marriage, they left for the north to help conquer the soil and subdue the savage for future civilization. They located in Cardston, Alberta, Canada, and there Noah spent his last days.

Noah Luman Shurtleff was a man of small stature, weighing one hundred forty pounds. He had black hair and sandy whiskers and blue eyes. He had a pleasing countenance with a quiet and pleasing disposition, but he was very firm. He had a very deep voice. He loved music, but he could not sing; however, he was able to detect discord and mistakes very readily. Even with his lack of a singing voice, he was successful in teaching music to others. He was a leader in drama. He organized the Harrisville Dramatic Club and coached and presented many ward plays and took various parts himself. He was a fluent and interesting public speaker and was prepared at all times to be called to the pulpit and have something of interest to relate. Because of his friendly and sympathetic disposition, he made a splendid foreman over a crew of men. Whenever trouble or dispute arose, he was able to show the workmen their mistakes and win their confidence to do as he directed. He did the family shoe repairing as well as blacksmithing and horse shoeing. He built his own brick kiln and made and burned his own brick with which he built his house. He built a smoke house for curing meat. He could do almost any kind of work and do it well. He was known as a "jack of all trades."

In Cardston, Alberta, he built a home and worked on the church farm. He became active in all church activities and endeared himself to the people of that community. He was known as a ministering angel in time of sickness and death. He was loved and respected by all who knew him. He had lived in Canada about four years when his life came to a sudden and tragic ending. Noah was called out to visit the sick and left his home in the evening to perform his mission of mercy. He bid his family a cheerful good evening and went out of the door to return no more. His family thought nothing of his delayed return,and retired. About three o'clock in the morning his wife was awakened by a horrifying dream. Noah had been digging a well and it was not yet rocked up. His wife dreamed he had fallen in the well and it had caved in upon him. Upon awaking and finding he had not returned, she hurriedly dressed and took a lantern and ran to the well. The well was caved in just as she had dreamed. The neighbors were aroused and the men heroically dug the dirt from the caved in walls, and at the bottom of the well Noah's body was found with no broken bones. It was thought by those who did the digging that as Noah had passed, he had discovered a squirrel had been drowned in the well and it was floating on the water and he had attempted to remove it when the wall caved in and he was carried to the bottom and covered with the falling dirt. At the time of his death he left his wife Cornelia with a family of eight children, the baby less than six months old, and his wife Mary with two sons, aged one and three years. Funeral services were held in Cardston, June 22nd, 1892.

Upon the death of her husband, Mary moved back to Harrisville, where she lived for two or three years. During this time, in about a year from her husband's death, her children contracted scarlet fever and on the 7th of July, 1893, her baby, Parley Leonard--about twenty-one months old--passed away. Cornelia's children were exposed and were also afflicted with the same disease and on the 12th of August, her son Lester Joseph passed away. Both mothers' hearts were torn in grief once more. Mary was married to W. R. Howard and left her son George Sterling with his grandparents in Harrisville and moved to Idaho and lived in St. Anthony and later settled in Chester, Idaho, where she passed away Oct. 5, 1948.

Cornelia spent her remaining days in Harrisville surrounded by her children, who, in her old age, gave her affectionate and loving care until her death Nov 27th, 1936, at the age of eighty-four.

Noah Luman Shurtleff, son of Luman A. and Altamira Gaylord Shurtliff, was the father of 11 children--7 boys and 2 girls by Cornelia and 2 boys by Mary. As of 1957 he has 183 descendants, now living.

A SHORT SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF ELLEN CORDELIA SHURTLIFF
by her granddaughter, Mrs. Oscar Stapp

On one wall of the living room (front room or parlor, then) of the home in Ogden, Utah, where I was born hung a large framed picture of my Grandfather Lamoreaux. A few feet away on the same wall hung one of my Grandmother. I remember very distinctly how as a child I used to stand in front of it and study it and wish that I could be as pretty and have the beautiful curls she had. My father acquired this same curly hair from his mother. I heard that my grandfather and Aunt Lydia had lived in this home some twenty-five years at his death. Aunt Lydia Shurtliff, grandmother's sister, moved into this home and raised her sister's five children along with her own.

As I gathered from hearsay as a child, my father always called her "mother;" the others called her "Aunt Lydia." She took in boarders and roomers--in this place on Washington Avenue between 24th and 25th Streets. My grandfather went blind from an eye operation. I used to take (lead) him places--to barber shop, etc. up to the fall of 1906, when we moved to Southern Idaho. I've heard my father say before his mother's death that they lived out of Ogden and his father ran a dairy route (milked cows); then he drove a stage coach (rocker) after grandmother's death. I have a large picture of it drawn by six horses.

My Uncle John was a tiny baby about three months old at his mother's death, my father near three years I believe. Their parents must have been married some twelve or thirteen years at time of her death. Now when it's too late, how I wished I'd jotted down things I could of acquired some time back, but that's life. I guess we don't get interested in the past until age starts making us wonder. My grandfather died in 1907 I believe. My brother Harold was born March 28, 1907, and grandfather was alive then as my father wrote and asked him to name the baby. I know grandfather didn't live very long after that.

A SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF FRANCIS MARION SHURTLIFF
by his daughter Alta Shurtliff Tillotson

Francis Marion Shurtliff was born during the great Mormon exodus while his parents were enroute from their native state to the unknown West, on the 23rd day of Jan., 1851, in Springville, Pottawattamie County (then), Iowa. The Shurtliff family had passed through trying days of persecution and mob violence at Nauvoo, Illinois, and Far West, Missouri, and had retreated to a camp called Garden Grove, now in Decatur County, on the plains of Iowa, where great suffering, sickness and poverty prevailed.

They made preparations to join the first band of saints going West in 1847, but were financially unable to make the trip, and were advised to move to Winter Quarters, Nebraska, the gathering place of the saints. A short time later they settled in Springville, and there established a little log home, which was a haven of peace in a hush of the storm of former years. The father taught school and burned wood into charcoal for a livelihood.

On May 20th, 1851, when the baby was but four months old, the father again obeyed the voice of his leaders and prepared wagons to move on to the West. Two wagons and four yoke of oxen were prepared for the journey. The father drove one and the sixteen-year-old brother Lewis W. drove the other. They arrived in Salt Lake Valley on the 23rd day of September, 1851, thankful to God of Heaven for safe arrival in the Valley. They first lived in Ogden and later in Harrisville. Their Ogden home was on the block where the City Hall now stands and many happy days were spent there by Francis as a child.

When Francis was seven years old, Johnson's Army marched upon Zion and once more the saints gave up their hard earned comforts. To Francis the "Move South" was filled with excitement and adventure. The Shurtliff family left their home on the 5th of April, 1858. The "Move" he says, "is one of my first remembrances." The fort was full and there was no room for his father's family. They moved into a room under ground and put the mother to bed. She was very ill during the entire stay in the southland, suffering great hardships. While here, adventures with the Indians were interesting experiences. He remembers the dugout, the damp walls and the dirt floor, the crowded beds and scant rations and his mother's sufferings. They arrived back in Ogden in the middle of July, 1858.

From this time on, life was a reality for Francis. He became a partaker in pioneering and carried his share of the family burdens. He cleared land of sage brush, plowed with oxen and milked the family cows at four o'clock in the morning before his day's work began. There was little time or opportunity for either schooling or play. He grew into a healthy, strong, hard-working boy with but little chance for temptation and was well developed both mentally and physically.

In May, 1868, Francis then 17, under the direction of his father, accepted work with The Union Pacific Railroad, and he took two teams of horses to grade and fill the roadbed. This work was completed and accepted on May 10, 1869, and one week later ground was broken near Weber River for a railroad line between Ogden and Salt Lake City to be named The Utah Central. As a volunteer from Harrisville Ward, Francis worked on this construction at a point near Layton.

When he was 19, he and his brother Noah built an adobe house. He left the farm to work at the trade of building, laying brick and blacksmithing. He next raised sugar cane and established a mill and, on shares, he ground cane and boiled the juice into molasses. He sold his share and bought a few clothes.

In the fall of 1869 he was employed by Charles Brent Hancock, Sr., to go into Ogden Canyon and build a sash sawmill. He went into the watershed of Ogden Canyon and built a dam on which he built a mill. With a log cart and a pair of mules Mr. Hancock hauled logs. In 1870 Francis started sawing the logs into lumber. At this time he met and loved his employer's daughter, Alta Pricilla Hancock, born 23 December, 1853, whose mother is Samantha Rawson.

After a short time Francis rented the mill and formed a partnership with his brother Noah and Mr. Hancock's son Charles Brott. His brother Lewis W. Shurtliff was hired to supervise the timber cutting. The company assumed the mortgage that Martin Harris held on the mill and paid him in lumber. They operated for two years and paid Mr. Hancock $1060 and they themselves saved $530 each. Francis then sold his share to his brother Noah and bought a mill in North Fork, Ogden Canyon, from a Mr. Wheeler. Mr. D. H. Peery handled the lumber from this mill and used it in the construction of homes and business houses which built up the city of Ogden.

In 1872, in preparation for marriage, he built an adobe house sixty feet long and fifteen feet wide, divided into three rooms. When it was nearly finished, an East wind came along and blew off the roof and blew down one wall. Wedding plans had been made: so, undaunted, he arranged to live in Noah's "lean-to" until he could finish his own home. Romance lightened long hours of work. On November 22nd, 1872, they were married in the Salt Lake endowment house by Daniel H. Wells. That night there was a heavy blizzard and the young couple camped on the corner where the Hotel Utah now stands and slept in the wagon. Their honeymoon was the return trip home thru deep, drifting snows on the rough roads behind tired horses. Thus a man of twenty-one and a girl of nineteen established a home.

To this union were born eight children: Samantha Evalyn, Franklin Marion, Asel Edward, Edith Vernetta, Arnold Riley, Perry Elumon who died in infancy, Lorenzo Joy and Alta Lenora. Francis prospered for a number of years and his family lived in comfort.

Francis received all the ordinations and on the 14th day of May, 1876, in Harrisville, he received a patriarchal blessing under the hands of his father Luman Andros Shurtliff.

In 1878 Francis' wife's cousin, Betsey Jane Hancock, and her little daughter Annis Maria Hancock visited at Ogden at the home of Francis' father-in-law. Betsey was a widow and here Francis met her and later asked her to become his second wife. They were married November 14th, 1878, in the Salt Lake Endowment House by Daniel H. Wells. Betsey is the daughter of George Washington Hancock and Betsey Jane Fackrell. She was born Feb. 22, 1851, in Woods Cross, Davis, Utah. To them were born six sons: George Luman who died when two months old, Leo Carl, Charles Lewis, Daniel Ray, Francis Wayne and David V. Betsey also had a home in Harrisville and she lived there until 1880 when the two families moved to Payson and again Francis engaged in the milling business Later he conducted a mill in Pleasant Valley, Emery, Utah, where he took Betsey who did the cooking for the mill hands. There he established a planing mill, and later combined with David Eccles and became manager of three mills. He then moved his machinery back to Payson, Utah, and went into business for himself. He made furniture, beehives, washboards and all kinds of wooden household wares. He bought a lot in Payson and Betsey's father gave her a lot next to it. So Francis built a big two-story house on these two lots, one-half on his lot for Alta and one-half on Betsey's lot, and there his two families lived. About 1886 he moved his families to Richfield and located on Ike Wright's place and established a mill, blacksmith shop and machine shop. Here he met with reverses and failed in business, losing $750. Starting up again, he bought Judge Bean's mills--a saw mill and a shingle mill.

At this time persecution for polygamy was intense. Betsey and her family were moved to Orderville into a rented house and Francis stayed in Richfield with Alta. The deputies came to Richfield and Francis, being warned, hurriedly purchased a horse and went to Pleasant Valley and took employment with David Eccles where he operated a mill powered by coal from a mine near by.

Mr. David Eccles was operating mills in Oregon and he persuaded Francis to work for him there. He went to North Powder where the best mechanics had failed to make the mill run. In seven days Francis had the engine fixed and the mill running. He sent for Betsey to come and keep house for him. She arrived on Oct. 29, 1887. Their home was furnished with lumber boxes for tables and chairs and cupboards. When he finished "sawing out" he was transferred to Pleasant Valley and then to Baker City, Oregon. Francis became the assistant superintendent of a mill that turned out two hundred thousand feet of lumber per day with also a box factory and planing mill in addition to the power house.

Francis bought an acre of ground in South Baker and built a very comfortable home for Betsey and her family where they lived until the children were married.

During this time, Alta, his first wife, was moved to Logan. Her health was impaired and it was her desire to live near the Temple. Francis bought her a beautiful home which is yet spoken of as the Shurtliff corner. Alta, their youngest child, was born in Logan, March 18, 1891. From this time on the Mother's health was improved and she raised her family alone until they were grown. Francis, however, was a good provider and she never wanted for means. Her allowance came regularly and special needs were promptly taken care of. He was mindful that the coal bin was full and that supplies were on hand. Alta shared her home with Betsey's children while they attended college: three of them went to the B.Y.C. Alta's boys were also employed with their father in Oregon at a very tender age. At about fourteen and sixteen the two older boys were working on The Sumpter Valley Railroad as firemen: later they became engineers. Alta's older girls went to Oregon at times to help Betsey.

Francis advanced: he was superintendent of The Sumpter Valley Railroad for twelve years and in 1903 he took his first vacation. He accepted the superintendency of the construction of the railroad from Dee to Hood River, Oregon, connecting with The Oregon Washington Railroad and Navigation Company. Dee is near Mt. Hood, Oregon. He built a standard gauge railroad and roundhouse, and he had charge of the repair shop where fifteen to twenty cars were repaired daily.

He sent for his wife Alta to keep house for him. My brother Lorenzo and I were the only ones of our family not married and we went too. The first year we lived in Dee, in timberland, in a large tent which was well boarded up on the sides and furnished very comfortably. The next year we lived in one of the newly constructed homes. I have many enjoyable memories of these years 1907-8-9 and 11 when I returned there again.

In 1914, Francis after working for David Eccles for twenty-seven years and when he was sixty-three years old, retired and and returned to Logan, Utah. My mother's prayers had been answered, that he would someday return and stay with her. I was the only unmarried child of the family.

Thus from the time he was twenty-three years of age, Francis Marion Shurtliff spent his life milling, building and pioneering in the various places where he resided. He spent forty years, not in the wilderness as The Children of Israel, but in the forests, cutting the timber, milling it and organizing and building railroads. Then in 1914, he too reached the promised land, a land where the Temples of God awaited his services.

He was honorable and upright in all of his dealings with other men and he was temperate, virtuous and trustworthy in all things. Altho his work kept him from church activities, he was staunch in his beliefs as a Latter Day Saint and he contributed generously to its maintenance. He kept five sons, and others, on missions.

At this time his oldest brother Lewis W., former President of Weber Stake in Ogden, called Francis to assume the responsibility of the Shurtliff genealogy and temple work, gave him the family record books and placed this mission upon him. So Francis with his wives and families accomplished a great mission. When his eyesight became so poor he couldn't manage the temple work himself he liberally furnished means to carry on the work.

He built a lovely new home on the old lot for his wife Alta which she enjoyed for several years before she passed away March 21, 1924. He had been devoted and given her every possible care during her final illness.

Betsy came to Logan and they were re-married in The Logan Temple. He had lost his sight; so operations were performed. The first was unsuccessful and he lost the eye. From the second operation he gained sight in one eye to some degree, but his vision was impaired for life. Betsy failed rapidly and died Aug. 6, 1932.

For four years he remained in his own home, cared for by house keepers and he then paid his way at the homes of some of his children.

Although these wives may have had differences, they were loyal to him and taught his children to love, honor, obey and respect their father. One may truthfully say, "They were noble women." (I personally never heard my mother say an unkind word about Betsey. Shey preferred to say nothing unless it could be good.)

Francis Marion Shurtliff made a success of his life, but to his wives must be given much of the credit for the success of his children.

In 1937, when he was eighty-six years old, for his age he was strong, healthy and erect. His memory was clear and his mind active. His heart was mellow as he lingered upon the past. He wanted to live to be a hundred years old.

He died Jan. 29, 1940, at eighty-nine years of age. He was buried in the Logan City Cemetery between his two faithful companions.

HISTORY OF ALZINA SMITH

AND

CHARLES VINCENT SHURTLIFF

Nancy Alzina Smith was in her sixteenth year when she married Charles Vincent Shurtliff, who was in his eighteenth year, on Dec. 28th, 1874 in The Endowment House, Salt Lake City. By Jan. 1st they had begun housekeeping in Charles' brother's house in Harrisville. In the spring they bought a steam sawmill in the canyon and moved there for the summer.

Charles began working for the railroad, The Utah & Northern, on April 27th in 1878. The railroad work was satisfactory and the family prospered. Charles worked two trips and laid off one. He wrote in a diary that they were getting along very well and that he had photographs taken of the children and themselves and that in the fall he planned to go south. The entry for 11 March, 1880, stated that he had cut down on his smoking about half and that he was going to quit smoking as soon as he could.

The winter of 1880 was one of deep snow--"a very hard winter." Trains were snow-bound for four days on about the 18th of March. Hay was scarce. They paid twelve dollars a ton for enough to feed the family cow. Because he ran irregularly on the passenger trains, money for family expenses was barely enough for essentials. In April he began braking on freight trains and his wages increased. He was able to make a list of his indebtedness; it amounted to $179.40. They decided to sell their home to pay what they owed and to accept a call from The President of the Church to help colonize Lee's Ferry in Arizona. They were promised a safe journey through prayerfulness, and the exercise of faith. They loaded their possessions on a spring wagon and hitched up their young team--Nig and Rocker.

In Kanab, Utah, George became seriously ill. There were no doctors to help. A midwife they called told them that she could do nothing; he had diphtheria. They called for administration by the L.D.S. Elders. Charles anointed him with consecrated oil; then they gave him a blessing. He immediately sat up, and wanted to play. He was only four years old, and so he was allowed to get up. There was no further sign of any sickness. He had been healed by the Lord, and they were deeply grateful for this evidence of His love and care for them.

Kanab was a small town, built along a stream that meandered down into the bottoms in a dry farm district of rolling hills. A dozen or more houses had been built along the three or four hundred yards of its bed; for that is as far as there was water. The banks were bare of any growth. They were just dust heaps, trampled by cattle and poultry, as well as by people. There was no chance for anything to grow there.

Near where they made their camp lived a householder who became friendly and invited them to stay in his home, while they were in Kanab. He had located a dry farm, and he was anxious to build his home on it, if he could find water for a well. Charles told him that,if he could bring him some green forked willows, he would be able to find out for him whether or not there was any water on his place. So the man took one of his very thin horses and headed for a place where he knew willows grew, to find the necessary branches--shaped like the letter Y. Charles drew the pattern for him. Only a perfect Y-shaped willow would do. Although the man was very skeptical, he returned with several of them, that night. Next morning, with Charlie, 5½ years old at their heels, they walked over the land. Charles held one of the willows firmly in both hands, the single end pointing straight up. In one place the stick began to point downward, the bark of its two prongs turning in Charles' hands as it assumed a normal growing position. He marked the place with his toe; then he slowly backed away until the willow again assumed the upside down position in his hands. There he made another mark on the earth with his shoe. They then measured the distance between the two marks--about forty-five feet. "If you'll dig that deep, you'll find water, straight down from the first mark I made." Charles predicted.

They left Kanab and headed into the Buckskin mountains. Several days later Nig, one of the horses, got sick. He rolled about, after he had been unhitched from the wagon, and finally lay still. They thought he was dying. They knew that with only Rocker to pull the wagon, they could not survive. Charles took the seat off the wagon, and they all knelt around it and prayed that Nig would get well. First Charles prayed, then Alzina, but the horse just lay there. Charles pleaded,as he prayed again, that the Lord would give them what they asked. As they knelt there, the horse got on his feet. He was well. When they hitched him to the wagon again, he showed no sign of what had happened. There was rejoicing and gratitude to their Heavenly Father for this miracle. They knew that God would take care of them, and that all would be well.

When they left the mountains to cross the desert which lay before them, the hot sand and burning sun were torture. Soon the water they'd brought was gone and they stopped. It was impossible to continue the journey. Both horses lay down. They had pawed great holes in the sand, trying to get water. There was none even for the family. Zina had given it to the children, going without a drink for herself, as long as she could. Now not a drop was left. Her tongue was black and swollen. Charles was weak, for he too had tried to keep going with as little to drink as possible. He told them he'd have to go find water for them, if he could. He left them with a coffee pot in his hand. They watched him 'til he disappeared into the distance. How long he was gone they could not measure. It seemed like an eternity in their misery. At last Zina told the children that it looked as if he wouldn't be coming back, so if God didn't help them out, she guessed they'd all die. She told Charlie to get up and throw down the wagon seat, as they'd done, when Nig was sick. Then she gathered the three children about her and they knelt on the burning sand around the seat to plead again with their Heavenly Father for His help. First she prayed and when she told him to, Charlie prayed a small boy's prayer as he had been taught to pray--in words that came from a trusting child's heart.

The sun beat down mercilessly upon them. The horses lay still, too exhausted to move. Again Zina prayed. As she began, Charlie watched a tiny spot of white in the far away sky. As they knelt there, it grew larger, and he knew it was a cloud. God was going to answer their prayers. It settled just over the wagon, and blotted out the sun. They could see the heat waves around its edges as it enveloped them in its coolness. "God is going to send us water," his mother told him. "Get up into the wagon and throw out all the pans and tubs and things," she directed Charlie and George. Soft cool drops had begun to fall upon their tortured bodies as the cloud settled close above them. The rain fell then, steadily. It filled the holes the horses had made with their feet and they got up and drank. All the pans and other vessels were filled, as they watched the sun beating down around the edges of the cloud. Then it went away. The sand steamed and dried right up, but they had the precious water left, to be stored in their barrels.

Their anxiety now was for Charles, out in the desert, trying to find help for them. If he would only come back, all would be well. They waited, praying for his safe return. As it began to get dark he came crawling, exhausted, on his hands and knees, with the bale of the coffee pot held in his teeth. They ran to him and asked what had happened, and told him of the miracle of rain God had sent while he was gone. He too, had found water he told them, enough to save his life. Without it, he could not have returned. He had walked until he could go no farther. He saw a rock sticking up from the sand, and he sat down in its shade, to rest. As he stared hopelessly at it, a dar spot formed on its surface and he thought there must be water there. Trying to get to it with his pocket knife, he began digging at the center of the place, and soon a drop of water formed and oozed down the side of the rock. He quickly found the stem of a dried weed, and he held it as sort of a spout; drop by drop, water dripped from its end. By holding the coffee pot beneath it, the precious water was collected. When the pot was full, he had struggled back to his family with it. Another miracle. God was mindful of them and their hearts were full of gratitude.

They now had enough water to take them through the desert safely. There was no bitterness in their hearts for the stage-coach driver that had passed and left them to die. Charles had pleaded with him for help before he went in search of water, but the driver told him they had only enough to get them through safely--not one sip could they spare. It was a cruel necessity of survival for them also, the driver told him, as they drove away.

They reached Lee's Ferry on the Colorado River where Zina's brother-in-law, Warren Johnson, and his family were taking care of the ferry crossing. Nig's and Rocker's legs were so sore that all the rest and care that could be given them was necessary. They had been through a terrible experience. Charles helped his relatives make a canal from the river to the two-acre garden about their homestead, part of the way through solid rock which had to be blasted out. Warren Johnson and his family had planted peach trees that were heavily laden with fruit and there was a half acre of grape vines in the orchard. They owned one cow which gave enough milk to fill a small pan once a day.

Charles and Dave Brinkerhoof, Warren's son-in-law, caught a scrawny steer that came down from the canyon, killed and dressed it out for trade with the Indians who came to the river for crossing. "Pawzoo" "Pawzoo" they would shout (That was their name for Warren Johnson.) Then he'd go the ferry to take them across. The Indian's call from the cliffs was the signal for young Charlie to fill his hat with grapes. The children were not given permission to pick the fruit; so when the visiting cousins did it anyway, they all enjoyed the stolen treat. Zina and Charles refused to stop this naughtiness, because they figured that the diluted milk with bread and syrup which they were given to eat, every day, was not sufficient for growing boys and girls.

They received a re-call from their mission via stage-coach, from Salt Lake City, and as soon as the horses were ableto travel, they began the return journey. The short cut across the desert was not traveled this time. They decided that the longer route, through the canyons and in the tops of the mountains was less dangerous. They took four barrels of water along, and even then the last half day they traveled without a drink.

When they arrived at Kanab, they found a greatfully happy friend who had dug his well, found water and built his home as he had dreamed he would do. They were given an enthusiastic welcome at the new homestead, but they were soon on their way back to Ogden, where they arrived safely. The trip had been especially hard for Zina, because she had been carrying her fourth child. By the 27th of November, Charles was again working on the railroad and his family was living with relatives in Weston, Oneida, Idaho.

On the 20th of March, 1882, he moved to Ogden, on the bench. Furniture for the new home cost $100. The baby girl, Lelly, died 16 Aug., 1882, and she was buried in the Ogden cemetery. In the spring of 1883 Charles decided to take up a homestead in The Snake River Valley, in Idaho. Several of his friends had been there and staked out claims the previous summer. Two, B. H. Ellsworth and R. F. Jardine, built their homes and spent the winter there.

On March 22, 1883, he quit railroading and homesteaded his ranch. On May 23, 1883, Alzina and the children stopped in Weston. They remained there where Llewellyn was born 27 May, 1883. Charles drove on alone to the ranch, where he built a log cabin. After it was completed, he returned with Nig and Rocker to Weston to get his family. They arrived at Lewisville, the new community, on Oct. 28, 1883. Supplies for the winter were hauled from Utah. Charles got a load of apples and traded them for wheat. This he took to the mill to be ground into flour. He cut cottonwood trees and hauled the wood 17 miles to Idaho Falls, then called Eagle Rock. He sold the wood for $1.50 a load. With the money he bought bacon, necessary clothes and supplies.

Large sage-brush grew on their land. This they cut and used for heating their home, and for cooking. It burned with a hot flame, but it was soon gone. Keeping the huge woodbox filled and the fire going was a constant chore. The winter was cold. They wrapped their feet in gunny sacks, for overshoes for outside wear were not known at that time.

Charles helped build the first combined church and schoolhouse, from native logs. He became the first school teacher in the community. When the Lewisville ward was organized, Aug. 17, 1884, Alzina was chosen as the first counselor in the presidency of The Relief Society, Luna Jardine was president and Alzina Goody, 2nd counselor. Charles helped build the first canal which brought water to the newly cleared land. It was the beginning of one of the oldest canal companies in Southeastern Idaho. He was one of the first appointed directors.

Mosquitoes were so thick in the summer that most of the settlers moved to the hills during mosquito time. Charles and Zina stayed in their cabin. By tacking mosquito netting over doors and windows, and keeping the bedroom dark, they were able to sleep undisturbed at night. The children went barefooted most of the time, swatting and scratching as they played. Unprotected animals were covered with a grey blanket of mosquitoes.

Alzina was a good housekeeper, neat about her kitchen and person. The children were always neat and clean for Sunday. She was devoted to her family. Hot biscuits were always made for breakfast. Joseph Heber was the first child to be born in their Lewisville home--May 6, 1885. There were no doctors; so helpful neighbors were called in whenever there was sickness or an accident. Zina did not go to church often. She was a good woman in every way, but there was always the children to get ready for meetings and the hardships of a pioneer mother to overcome in caring for her family. Ray was born June 28th, 1887, and Altamira Dec. 11th, 1888. She died Jan 28th, 1889, and was buried in a private lot on the farm.

Charles was very careful with his means. They never bought anything he couldn't pay for. They went without, until the way was open, in his eyes. They cleared land and raised potatoes, wheat and corn. In the fall the ears of corn were stored in the shed, to be husked later. The boys couldn't go to school until after this was all done, each year. There were so many things for them to do to help that schooling became only a mid-winter project. The roads were rough and the schoolhouse was two miles from their home. Snow was deep and the winters were cold; so it was more practical to remain at home. Usually, as the younger children grew up, they attended more regularly.

Another girl, Eva, was born April 8th, 1890. Alzina was very happy to be able to keep this child, her first girl to rear from babyhood. Leone was born Sept. 27th, 1891; Della Sept. 19th, 1893 and John July 7th, 1895.

There were many jack-rabbits which the boys hunted for meat in the winter. In the pioneer community there were many fist fights to settle differences. Zina's and Charles' boys became strong men who took part in this phase of the community. Charles taught them to swim in a tributary of the Snake River; this tributary, named the Dry Bed, flowed on the north of their place. They had many good times, as well as bad.

Charlie married and brought his bride, Emeline, to live in a log cabin he built on ten acres which his father gave him for a wedding present. Zina welcomed her first daughter-in-law warmly, as she did the wives of her other sons when they married in their turn.

Olive was born June 26, 1897. Zina's health was not good. She had gall-stones and suffered severe bilious attacks. She was a heavily built woman of medium height. When their children were born, a hired girl was secured to help with the family work, but there was always so much to do that the older children too were asked to help tend the babies. Noah Francis was born May 19, 1899 and died March 19, 1900. He was buried beside his older sister in the family plot. Jessie was born Oct 15, 1901. In 1902 they went through Yellowstone Park with a white top buggy and a grub wagon. The trip was a real vacation for all.

Alzina had more frequent bilious attacks in the years that followed and finally she was taken to Ogden for surgery. She did not recover from this illness. Her death took place at the home of Warren and Laura in Ogden on Dec. 7, 1906. Her body was returned to Lewisville for burial beside her children in the family plot. In later years their graves were transferred to the Lewisville cemetery. Ina Odetta, Charlie's and Emeline's 2nd child, had been buried there also, and was moved at this time.

The brick home that was being built when Alzina went to the hospital in Ogden was completed too late for her enjoyment. She had found her place in Heaven, far from the sod-covered cabin which had been her home for so many years. Her lot as a pioneer mother had been a hard one. Her life is worthy of the highest praise.

LYMAN NOBLE SHURTLIFF

I, Lyman Noble Shurtliff, was born at Harrisville, Utah, Oct. 29, 1862. My father was Luman Andros Shurtliff and my mother was Melissa Shurtleff. My mother was the mother of eight children while my father was the father of thirty-three children; being married four times. My mother was his third wife. My father was one of the earliest settlers of Harrisville. There were only three ranches or farms in that vicinity.

As far back as I can remember I would herd sheep in the spring and cows in the autumn. We would take the sheep to the hills in the summer and send the cows to the summer herd. (Several persons took care of all the cattle in the community.) There were no fences except willow fences.

During the first years of my schooling I had only a spelling book out of which I learned to read and spell. This book had descended from my older brothers and sisters; so it was somewhat dog-eared. In those days books were very scarce and high in price as there was no railroad and all merchandise had to be freighted across the plains with ox team.

At the age of sixteen I had typhoid fever which left my eyes so weak I could not attend school any more.

In the summer when we were not herding we would work on the farm and in the garden. In the fall we would have from 100 to 200 bushels of potatoes to dig with a spade.

We would cut grass in the meadows with a scythe for hay. We would pitch hay with three-tine forks. They would raise grain and cut it with a cradle. Soon the dropper was invented which would cut the grain and pile it in piles and we would bind it by hand.

My brother Selah, two years my senior, left home the fall I was sixteen and left me to take care of the family of ten persons. My father was too old to do much so it left it all for me.

The old farm consisted of 60 acres, 24 acres of it meadow, but by this time we had a mowing machine to mow our meadow. We also had about three acres of orchard.

Money was scarce with us and I had but very little spending money. Once in a while we could sell a few bushels of apples. When a young man took his girl to the theater or other entertainments, he would take a chicken or other produce to pay for their tickets. We would have dances, i.e. square dances. We were not allowed to dance round dances--the waltz and two-step. In the summer, crowds of us young folks would go to the mountains and gather berries which grew in abundance. There were sarvice berries, choke cherries and thimbleberries and strawberried. In the winter we would go sleigh riding. We would get a sleigh or a pair of bobs and get some cow bells for music, then get a crowd and sleigh ride half or two-thirds of the night.

The year I was 17 we put up the first barb wire fence in Harrisville. We paid $.12½ per pound for the wire.

When I was 18 I worked for the railroad on the section crew to get money and got my first suit of clothes. Before this I had worn homemade clothes, which were rather ill-fitting, especially as the seat came in close contact with the heels. I would have on the average one pair of shoes per year, and they were heavy stogies. They were used for field work shoes, Sunday shoes and dancing pumps. From the wool off the sheep our clothes were made. We would plant our grain thick so the stocks would be long and slender to have straw to braid into hats.

At the age of 20 my father told me that I could have two colts if I would raise them. At the age of 21 my father rented the old place to me for half of what I raised. We had three cows, two mares and three sows. That Year we had an increase of 20 pigs, 3 calves and 2 colts. When I rented the place, my father gave me two acres of land, one of which was orchard.

July, 1884, my father took sick and on the 20th of August died.

In March, 1885, I went to Snake River, Idaho, where my older brother Luman E. had taken up a homestead. I took up a homestead also. Mine consisted of part timber and part grass land. It was twenty miles up the river from Idaho Falls, on the south side of Snake River, and just across the river were two buttes which looked as if they had been blown from two volcano craters two miles away.

In the late spring I was obliged to go to Lost River to work and there I remained until autumn. Then I returned to my home in time to harvest, as we had in about 30 acres of grain. It thrashed out upward of seven hundred bushels of grain. I put in some grain and in the latter part of the fall went down to Ogden to spend the winter. As I went through Marsh Valley they were having good sleighing and it was so cold that the frost stayed on the telegraph wires all the day. When I reached Ogden there was no snow on the ground and it was much warmer.

My mother, my brother Ransom and my sister Emma were the only ones home. My brother was going to school and since there was no one to do the chores, I concluded to rent the place.

In February (Valentine Day) I started to go with Miss Annie J. Anderson, and was married in the Logan Temple, Sept. 29, 1887. I was 24 years, 11 months old and she was nearly nineteen. On account of the cold climate we concluded not to go back to my old home in the Snake River Valley, but to stay and rent the place for another year.

When we were married we had only two cows, a pig and $30 which we spent in buying a stove. Our fruit was all frozen and there was a fruit famine all through the country. All the fruits we could get were one dozen cans of tomatoes and one dozen cans of gooseberries. We had our supply of flour and potatoes for the winter.

We lived one year on my mother's place. During my spare time I made adobies to build a house on our farm. On June 27, 1888, our first child was born whom we named Alma Lyman. That fall we built our first house consisting of two rooms. We moved into it that winter, but it seemed quite lonesome as we had no near neighbors and the snow was deep. We had laid up during the summer plenty of stores for winter such as dried fruit, corn, potatoes, meat, flour and we had plenty of milk and butter and were very happy and contented and built many hopes for the future, but times were hard. We only had one horse and couldn't raise money to buy another as they were very high, so we had to do most of our work with one horse. Once in a while I would hire one from my neighbor Agren and for using the horse one day I would give him a days work. The next year I traded a colt for a saddle horse that would run away every time it got a chance.

I set out quite an orchard of all kinds of fruit. I bought what I could from the nursery and got a good many kinds from the old place. We couldn't sell much of anything as money was very hard to get. There was no work to be had unless one went out of the country, and I couldn't very well do that; so we got along the best way we could until the brickyard started at Harrisville. This was about three years after we were married. Norman Ezra and Sylvia Annie, our 2nd and 3rd children, were born here.

We lived about a mile and one-half from the nearest school and meeting house and in the winter the snow was deep and it was difficult to take Alma to school and to bring him home each day when he became of school age; so we decided to move closer to school and on the highway. We bought a lot about a half mile west of the Harrisville brick yard, bought a house and moved it onto the lot. This made it much easier to get the three children back and forth from school each day.

For several years I worked at the brick yard part or all of the time and also cared for my farm. About this time a sugar factory was built just northwest of Ogden and most of the farmers put a part of their farm to growing sugar beets. Thinning beets was always a good job for growing boys. Alma and Norman got quite efficient in that work.

In the winter of 1900 we became interested in some literature about Arizona and its nice warm climate and the praises given that part of the country by some of our friends who had been there. We had never liked the cold winters in Ogden; so we decided to move south. We sold our home and farm and all personal property that we could not take with us on the train.

After spending a few days in Ogden visiting friends and relatives, we boarded a D. & R. G. W. train and ended our trip at Pima. We now had five children; Ellen Melissa and Carl Luman were the younger ones. We liked Arizona, including the nice spring weather, the friendly neighbors and the semi-tropical vegetation. We bought a farm in the eastern part of the village, built a lumber house, bought machinery for farming, dug a well, fenced the property and started the three oldest children in school. We also bought a team of good horses, a wagon, etc. We were a happy farm family until the doctor advised us to move because certain salts in the water were ruining my health.

About that time we received a letter from my sister Vina Wilson in Colonia Dublan, Mexico, who invited us to visit her and her family. We drove down to Mexico in a covered wagon. Upon arrival in El Paso at the international line between our country and Mexico, the Mexican custom authorities demanded a large duty on our horses, equipment etc. We learned that a group of colonists were on their way from Utah to settle in the Mexican Mormon colonies and that they had already arranged for free entry. So we decided to leave our team, wagon and equipment and to go to Dublan by train and to return to El Paso at the proper time to meet the Utahns and bring our possessions across the line duty free.

When we returned to El Paso, we ran into unexpected trouble. Some of the Saints from Utah had broken out with Smallpox and we were all quarantined and made to camp outside the city. After a few weeks I decided to take Alma and Norman back to Pima, Arizona, to get the household things, sell our farm and equipment and return to Mexico to make our home there. Alma was eleven and Norman was nine. We went west from Dublan over real pioneer roads until we came to a spot on the Vivispy River where a small colony of Latter Day Saint people lived and had a small ward. They made their living by farming, cattle raising and mining. We stayed there over night and then went on our way. We crossed the border at Naco where I unexpectedly met my brother Luman whom I supposed was still living in Idaho. Luman was on his way to make his home in the colony that we had left only a few days before. Before parting we made plans to meet again in Moreles after we got back from Pima.

We had a nice trip from Naco to Pima, and we were not long in trading our land and equipment for another team and wagon and other articles we thought would be needed in the colonies. We started back for Mexico. The boys drove one team and I drove the other. We were several days making this trip but finally arrived in Moreles and Luman was there to greet us. He had built a house of bamboo with a wagon cover for a roof; the house served us quite well until the wind blew or it rained.

We found that the Saints that had been quarantined in Dublan had already arrived and were very enthusiastic about planting their gardens and field crops and building houses. They had a ward organized with Orson Brown as Bishop and Luman Shurtliff as one of the counsellors. Bishop Brown was skilled in dealing with the Mexican people and the rough element that lived in that part of Mexico. He divided the land near the townsite into small farms, gave one to every family and gave each family a building lot. He also assigned some responsibility to each member of the ward. Luman and I were given charge of the brickyard and the lime kilns and many of the building jobs. Alma and Norman took their part in this work; although they were still just young boys.

About the middle of July the rainy season began. It rained every day. Weeds grew in the gardens and fields and they were too wet to hoe. Our house would not keep the rain out. Many of us got Malaria. Three of our children became very ill and as we had no medical aide, my wife and I decided to move to some place where we could get help and get away from the wet weather.

After talking with Luman, who had spent several years in Overton, Nevada, we decided to move there; so within a few days we were back in the States on our way to Nevada. It took us about a month to make this trip. We crossed the Colorado River at a place where the Virgin River empties into it. At that time all traffic had to be ferried across ther iver on a boat. This was done by Daniel Bonilli and his on-in-law, Joseph F. Perkins. We then travelled up the Virgin River and then along the Muddy River to Overton.

Overton was a little town of about 15 houses. It had only one road, running North and South through it, and two little stores--one owned by Brigham whitmore and the other by Charles Cobb, a man with one leg. The post office was kept by Thomas T. Jones. Other families living in Overton at that time were the Billie Perkins family, the Johnsons, Ute Perkins, the Coxes, the Mendis D. Coopers, the George Ingrams, Sr., Sherman Thomas, Alvin Crosby, Sandord Angell & family and Lue Shurtliff, son of Luman.

Mail was carried by team and buckboard from Caliente, Nevada, three times per week. Very little farming was done in the Muddy Valley at that time and what was done was very crude--some grain for flour and some alfalfa to feed their horses and milk cows. Most of the families had a few cattle pasturing on the range in the valley. Few families depended on agriculture for a living. Most of the men spent a part of their time working at mining camps near by. Though they would be only fifty or seventy-five miles from home, on account of the poor transportation, they would stay with their jobs at the mines for several months at a time without coming back to their families.

We bought a forty-acre farm from Brigham Whitmore just north of Overton; however 15 acres was waste land. We lived for three years in a tent until we could build a house. During this time my wife gave birth to our sixth child, Bertha Adeline, born Jan. 25, 1903. We raised some livestock, grew grain and green vegetables which we marketed, along with eggs, poultry and hogs, to the mining camps near by. After we had moved into our new adobe home, Lester Noble was born, on Oct. 21, 1906.

We raised and shipped by express, as well as with peddlers, some of thefirst cantaloupes and watermelons that were grown in the valley.

Around 1910 my brother Ransome and his daughter Lucille came down from Ogden. He and Alma, Norman and myself organized an amusement company which consisted of a dance hall and combination skating rink, a pool room, a short order and ice cream parlor and a moving picture show. During this time we were still shipping melons and vegetables. We were very successful in these enterprises until the start of World War I. So many young men were drafted that business was too poor to continue with the amusement company; so we discontinued this enterprise. Ransome and his daughter then left for California.

For several years I had been having trouble with my kidneys again; so Alma took me to Idaho for a few weeks where I improved, but after coming back I was only able to keep up the chores.

Lyman Noble Shurtliff died Aug. 10, 1927, when 64 years old.

A LIFE HISTORY OF LOVINA ADAMS SHURTLIFF WILSON
sent to author by Mrs. Jesse Wilson

Lovina Shurtliff's parents on both sides accepted the gospel in the early rise of the church and came to Utah with the early pioneers. They endured many hardships for the sake of the Gospel. Her parents were living at Harrisville, Utah, at the time of her birth.

Due to the early and strenuous times of theearly people of Utah the family was financially in hard circumstances. Lovina relates an instance when she was a small girl. She was the oldest living child in the family when her mother was confined, therefore it became her duty to care for her mother and other members of the family. This particular winter's morning she was draining the potatoes which had been cooked in an old fashioned stove kettle. She had to go out of doors to do this. The snow was deep and the wind was cold. She had no shoes to her name and wore only a thin gingham dress.

As President Brigham Young was calling on the saints to go south into Arizona to build new settlements, Ira Lyman Wilson was called as a young man to go with the saints to what was later Brigham City, Arizona. The saints were there only a short time when Pres. Young paid them a visit. While Pres. Lorenzo Snow was there he instructed Brother Wilson that it was his duty as a young unmarried man to return to Utah and find him a wife. He was given three months to do so and return to his labors as secretary of the United Order in that place. He immediately started for Utah. On arriving he began with a prayerful heart, seeking for his life's companion. He was led to the Shurtliff home. After a short time he became acquainted with Lovina Shurtliff. He told her of his mission and the request of Pres. Lorenzo Snow. She consented to go back with him. They were married in the old endowment house in Salt Lake City, 28 Nov., 1877.

They had only been married three days when they set out upon their lifes journey together as pioneers back to Arizona. Sister Wilson was very much afraid of Indians. While her husband would be out hunting for their horses which had been hobbled out at night, she would climb up in the wagon, hardly daring to breathe for fear the red men would come.

They arrived safely at Brigham City and continued their mission in the United Order. In the year 1878 their first child was born.

When their mission was completed at Brigham City, Pres. Snow called them to go further south into old Mexico to colonize there. This was another step in pioneer work.

At Colonia Diaz, Sister Lovina became very active in the Relief Society and Sunday School work. In the early days of this settlement the epidemic of scarlet fever and diphtheria became very serious, and good nurses were very welcome. Nursing was one of Sister Lovina's natural gifts.

From this place they moved to Colonia Dublan. Here her husband was called on a mission to the Hawaiian Islands. During his absence, Sister Lovina, still being at the pioneer front, struggled hard to support her family and to assist her husband while on a mission.

After he returned, they moved to the mountain colony of Chichupa. At this place she became Pres. of the Relief Society, a Sunday School teacher and a Primary teacher. For the first time in their lives they began to accumulate a few of the comforts of life. But it was not to last, for in the year 1911 The Mexican Civil War or rebellion commenced and by the fall of 1912 the Mexican rebels had taken and robbed them of nearly all of their possessions. She worked hard and earnestly and without complaint, always acknowledging the hand of the Lord in all things.

In August, 1912, she with her husband and family took what few treasured articles and keep-sakes there were left and boarded a special train arranged by the colonists and came to El Paso, Texas, for a few days. There was no encouragement as to the possibility of returning to their home again in safety; therefore they decided to go to Manti, Utah. Here, for about two years, she and her husband worked in the Manti Temple.

But it seemed that her pioneer life was not over for she and her husband were impressed to go to The Uintah Basin, where they were the instigators of bringing about the organization of the Randlett Ward.

In the year 1921, again her husband went to Mexico on a mission. During this time she was living on a homestead of her grandson. One day she slipped and fell and broke her ankle. A failure in getting it properly set caused a decay of the bone to set in. In February, 1924, she was taken to the L.D.S. Hospital for treatment. On examination the doctors told her that unless God Almighty intervened, that her foot would have to be taken. To this decision she replied, "I believe that the Lord will heal my ankle; if he does not see fit to do so, I will die with my foot on." She had faith in the Lord and in the Elders. In a few days she was able to leave the hospital with her husband who had previously been brought to the hospital for medical attention by Pres. Roy L. Pratt.

They returned to their home at Randlett, where Ira Lyman Wilson died 4 May, 1924.

In 1931, Sister Wilson went to Manti to work in the Temple. While she was working there, she became acquainted with one of the temple workers, Bro. Joseph Homer Snow, whose companion had passed away several years before, leaving him very lonely. They both decided that they needed a companion; so they were married for time in the Manti Temple. Shortly afterward she contracted the influenza which left her with a weak heart which resulted in her death 15 September, 1935. She was light complected with blue eyes, dark hair, weighing 140 pounds, 5 feet 5 inches tall. She had a very charitable, loving and motherly disposition.

SKETCH OF EUNICE JANE SHURTLIFF DEWEY

Eunice Jane Shurtliff was born on the 17th of February, 1863. She was the fifth child among eleven born to Luman Andros Shurtliff and Mary Eliza Adams. She was born in the town of Harrisville, Weber County, Utah. The family had moved there with a few other pioneer families shortly after the founding of Ogden in 1850.

Eunice was a bashful child; but very talented, especially in music and in the writing of poetry. She was well provided for, and obtained a common school education.

In 1881, when she was eighteen, she visited with her married sister, Louisa Shurtliff Hancock, in Marsh Valley, Idaho. There in a village then known as Nine Mile, in Bannock County, she met William Alfred Dewey, whom she married on January 30, 1882.

Her husband had gone to Marsh Valley from his childhood home in Deweyville, Box Elder County, Utah, to work in 1879. After farming for two or three years in the south end of Marsh Valley (in the Warm Springs area south of what is now the town of Downey), he acquired a farm in Nine Mile, now known as Cambridge. At that time there were only a few families in Nine Mile, and the closest neighbors were one-half to one mile away. Eunice endured many hardships in this pioneering venture. She had many frightening experiences with the Indians who were not very friendly. Their first home was a log house and in this house seven of her nine children were born.

She was an ideal pioneer mother, and an immaculate housekeeper. The Latter Day Saint Church organization in Nine Mile was, until 1895, a branch of the Marsh Center ward. Eunice greatly assisted and encouraged her pioneer husband, who had only a very meagre education. When the Cambridge Ward was organized in 1895, her husband became a counselor in the Bishopric. Later, in 1907, he was made Bishop of the same ward; he held this office for fifteen years.

As a Bishop's wife, Eunice Jane preferred to labor behind the scenes. She never entirely overcame her bashfulness; but much of William A. Dewey's success as an outstanding Bishop, member of the Stake High Council, and as a community leader was due to his wife's influence and help.

She was never very strong physically. After taking part in various auxiliary work in the church, she would frequently take to her bed for days at a time.

Eunice had a wonderful disposition and was never known to be angry with any of her nine children. She often said, "You can do more to correct a child with a little praise and a lot of love and understanding than all the spankings in the world." She was deeply religious and taught her children to trust the Lord and live His commandments. Her faith was so great that, along with that of her husband's, she experienced miraculous healings for both herself and her children a number of times.

During the closing years of her life Eunice Jane wrote a considerable amount of very fine poetry. One of the poems, entitled "Happy Thoughts," was written in premonition of her early death. After a long illness, she passed away on the 22nd of September, 1912, at the age of forty-nine years.

The unusually large funeral attendance was a fitting testimony of the outstanding influence for good which she had exercised upon all who had known her. On her monument was inscribed the words, TO KNOW HER WAS TO LOVE HER.

HAPPY THOUGHTS

Her Last Poem
Eunice J. Shurtliff Dewey

When the sun of life is setting,
  And the world seems growing cold.
When our days are filled with fretting,
  And we feel we're growing old.
Oh how sweet if we can whisper,
  To the hour that's flitting by;
Loved and loving I'm still living,
  Loved and loving let me die.

Though sometimes I'm found complaining,
  When things seem to go amiss,
Yet this thought is still sustaining,
  Life is sweet in spite of this.
Little children romp about me,
  And their laughter cares defy;
Whilst their voices sing this measure;
  Loved and loving let me die.

I have had long days of pleasure,
  Then my dreams were all of bliss.
And I seldom met a sorrow,
  But 'twas soothed with thoughts like this;
Friends have sometimes gathered 'round me,
  And their love has checked each sigh,
Loved and loving they have found me,
  Loved and loving let me die.

What to me is gold or treasure,
  When compared with life and love?
What can fill our hearts with pleasure,
  Like the friendship one can prove?
What can cheer us in our sadness,
  When this life is flitting by,
Like a heart love-tuned to gladness,
  Loved and loving let me die.

Whats beyond we know quite surely,
  And in faith the true will find
A place where love will dwell more purely
  Than the love we leave behind.
There no falsehood shall perplex us,
  And no tears will dim the eye.
Unkind words will never vex us.
  Loved and loving let me die.

ALTAMIRA GAYLORD SHURTLIFF

Altamira Gaylord was born Aug. 7, 1816, at Westfield, Hampden, Ohio, the daughter of John Gaylord and Joanna Bagg. Her parents were born in Massachusetts and their ancestors were early American settlers. Altamira's parents joined The L.D.S. Church and came as far as Nauvoo and her father died there on Oct. 24, 1844, the same year that the prophet was martyred. The mother, Joanna Bagg Gaylord desired to come westward with her daughter and son-in-law, but her son who had not accepted the Gospel objected and took her to his home. She died in Franklin, Ohio, not long after, in 1847.

Altamira Gaylord married Luman Andros Shurtliff as his second wife. His first wife was her sister Eunice whom he married in 1830 and who bore him eight children and lived with him through his conversion to the Church and through his many missions for the Church. Luman Andros felt that he had been called to the work of the Lord and was willing to devote his life for its promotion. While he was away, Altamira, a younger sister, lived with Eunice to keep her company and help with the family. The Gaylord parents moved next door to be near their daughters. They were then in their declining years. Luman's first meeting with the Gaylord family is interesting although Altamira is just one of the children at that time. In his words, "About the middle of Oct., 1828, a man and his family, John Gaylord and his wife moved into our neighborhood. They had a large family of children among them four young persons, two young men and two young women." He continued, "One Sabbath evening as I was returning from a Methodist meeting I passed the Presbyterian meeting house and three young ladies came out followed by two young men. As I was going in the same direction I soon fell in company.----When we reached the Clapp home one boy and his sister said goodnight. The other Clapp boy stepped up to walk with the youngest Gaylord girl and I offered my arm to the other. I felt rather awkward but had made it a rule never to let a girl walk home alone in the dark, if they would accept my company. This was the first word I spoke to my wife, as she afterward proved to be. She politely accepted my arm and we walked to her home cheerfully, little thinking we were forming an acquaintance for time and eternity. When at their father's home I stepped in and sat a few minutes and formed a slight acquaintance with her and a part of the family. In all I spent the evening very pleasantly." Little did he know that he would marry a younger daughter also. "I was twenty-one and had a home and land ready and wanted a wife. The Gaylords were poor and were new in the country. Why shouldn't I seek a girl of influence and with wealthy parents? I could not find any one I enjoyed being with as much as Eunice Gaylord. Mr. Gaylord was a carpenter by trade and very deaf. I hesitated to talk to him about marrying his daughter as we would have to talk loudly and others would hear and might tattle or make a joke of it that would cast reflection on the gentleman, so I decided to write a letter to Mr. Gaylord as follows: It being the custom of the people of our country to ask the consent of the parents when a daughter is requested in marriage, I would therefore elicit your consent that your daughter Eunice may become my lawful wedded wife. If you see fit to give your consent, please do it by signing your names and returning this letter to me. With due respect, Luman A. Shurtliff. I handed this letter to Mr. Gaylord and the next time I saw Eunice she handed it back to me signed by John Gaylord and Joanna Bagg Gaylord."

Altamira Gaylord lived with her sister at the time the Nauvoo Temple was being built; Luman helped some in the building of the edifice but was again called on a mission. He performed eight foreign missions before coming to Utah. He also had military duties, an officer in the Nauvoo Legion. Eunice died not too long before the exodus from Nauvoo. Luman and Altamira were married Nov. 25, 1845, by Samuel Bent, a close friend. In Jan. of 1846 they were called to work in the Nauvoo Temple. On Jan 29th, 1846, Altamira stood as proxy for her sister and was also sealed herself, both as wives for time and all eternity to Luman Andros Shurtliff. This was at the Nauvoo Temple. There in the basement of the temple they saw the mummies and the parchment from which The Book of Abraham was written.

Six months after their marriage when Altamira was thirty and Luman Andros was thirty-nine years old, the Saints were driven from Nauvoo. Luman had been a member of the church for ten years and had moved his family four times and started over anew. Each time there was much more responsibility and more determination. He bought a fine yoke of oxen for fifty dollars and prepared to leave again. They took the last look at the temple and started for Garden Grove, 170 miles west of Nauvoo, arriving there June 6, 1846. Altamira's husband built her a home, a house of rough split logs; the floor was of earth and the carpet hay and bark, the door, split wood and the windows were holes between the logs and for a partition a wagon cover. Now Luman was called to go back and bring away the poor Saints on the west bank of the Mississippi. He was away thirty days and while he was away Altamira gave birth to her first child, a son; Noah Luman was born Nov. 25, 1846, at Garden Grove, Pottawattamie, Iowa. The winter of 1847-48 was a hard one. Men went out into the bluff to get wood to keep warm and to sell for food, corn meal, and hay and corn for the stock.

About this time the Brother Bent who had married Luman and Altamira, died leaving a wife and four children to Luman's care; so he built them a house to live in. There were between five and six hundred people in the camp now and food enough to last only 'til April at best; clothing was scarce. Luman was called on other missions back to Illinois and visited the deserted city Nauvoo. Luman married Cynthia N. S. Bent and also her daughter, Melissa Adeline Shurtliff.

On April 4, 1848, at Winter Quarters, Altamira was not feeling well and she received a blessing at the hands of Isaac Morley.

On April 6, 1848, they were at Springville, Pottawattamie, Iowa. Luman built a double house so Altamira could have one end of it and Eunice's children the other. Some of the six children in the first family were old enough to care for the others and they lived together as a family. They lived here three years. Altamira's daughter, Ellen Cordelia (Lamoreaux) was born here March 14, 1849. Luman A. burned charcoal and taught school. He made a policy to charge so much for those who could pay and for the poor he charged nothing, but he taught all the same. He was the head of five branches and spent much time preaching and regulating Church affairs. It was here that Altamira gave birth to Francis Marion Shurtliff, my father, on January 23, 1851.

On May 20th, 1851, when my father was four months old, the Shurtliff family started for Utah, along with others. Easton Kelsey was nominated Captain of the One Hundred; L. A. Shurtliff as capt. of the first fifty and Isaac Allred as capt. of the 2nd fifty and Amos Musser as Secretary.

When they started for the West Luman says, "Haskell (son of Cynthia Noble Shurtliff, the widow of Samuel Bent) drove one wagon with two good yoke of oxen and one yoke of cows. (Cynthia was also the widow of Elisha Shurtliff.) My son Lewis Warren, now sixteen, helped me drive. We were four families in one." They arrived in Salt Lake City, 23rd September, 1851.

In November they were in Ogden, Utah. They were offered a shanty to fix up until a house could be built. Altamira and her three children occupied this and the older children lived in the wagon while the house was being built. They moved into the house located near the present City Hall Square on the 16th of Nov., 1851.

There was a swamp near and as a means of livelihood they gathered willows and reeds and made baskets. When they got a good assortment, they hitched up a yoke of steers to a wagon and started out to sell the baskets, or exchange them for wheat, shelled corn, corn on the stock or potatoes. They worked from early 'til late. When they had been in Weber County eighteen months they were permanently situated on a fifty-acre farm. They planted and had good crops.

Luman says, "In 1853, my wife Altamira and I went to April conference." On Sept. 16th Altamira gave birth to her fourth child Lucy Ann, who lived to be thirteen years of age. Luman A. was called to the legislature and lived at the home of Ezra Benson while in Salt Lake City and paid five dollars per week. While away he admonished his families to live up to the principles of the Gospel, and he says among other things, "Help Altamira all you can with her work so that she can make up the clothes for herself and children." When at home for the holidays he attended parties with his families at Fort Bingham where they were living at that time. In April, 1854, he wrote, "Altamira and I went to conference in Salt Lake." About this time Altamira took a friend into her home--Mary Eliza Adams. Later she accompanied this friend to Salt Lake City and gave her consent for Mary E. to marry Luman A. as his fifth wife. She must have believed in the Principle and must have had great love and respect for her husband.

An interesting item is when they went to pay tithing on Jan. 16, 1856, to Bishop Bingham at Fort Bingham. They paid the following for 1855: $16.00 in labor by laying adobes on the Ogden tabernacle, $58 in livestock, 28 bu. of wheat, 5 bu. potatoes, 3 bu. beets, 1 bu. corn, 25 squashes, 500 lbs. hay, 50 lbs. salt, 3½ lbs. butter and 12 melons--equalling $109.40. Luman said he gave freely to the needy and found his bins just as full as before giving.

On Jan. 26, 1856, Altamira gave birth to her third son, Charles Vincent Shurtliff, grandfather of the author of this book. She had one more child on March 9th, 1858, Samuel Darwin who died at birth. She had six children; four of these lived to maturity and had families of their own.

Before and after this last birth, Altamira's life was despaired of and it was the time of the Johnson's Army and the move South. She was unable to be moved. On the 5th of April Luman, leaving his daughter Elizabeth to care for Altamira, took the other members of his family and started South. Later he took her as far as Salt Lake City where he could get medical care and still later to Provo Bench where he secured the best woman doctor he could get. He walked to Provo for medicines. Bro. Phineas Richards, by Luman's request, opened her infected breast to relieve her suffering. She then was taken south to Spanish Fork. Her son, my father Francis Marion Shurtliff, said of the occasion, "I was seven years old and the "move" was one of my first remembrances; the fort was full and there was no room for my father's family. We moved into a room under the ground and put my mother to bed. She was very ill during our entire stay in the South and endured severe suffering and great hardship. I remember well the dugout, the damp walls and the dirt floor, the sage brush fire and the black pot in which the food was cooked, the crowded beds and the scant rations, and my mother's sufferings." After spending thirty-eight days at Spanish Fork, they received orders to return to Ogden. The trip took four days with resting places at Provo, Salt Lake City and Point of the Mountain. They arrived home on the 23rd of June, 1858.

On March 13th, 1859, Luman wrote in his Journal, "My oldest wife has been sick nigh unto death and confined to her room or bed most of the time for the past year." In April of this year Luman moved his other families to the farm at Three Mile Creek, now Harrisville. He needed their help. They lived in a dugout until he was able to provide houses for them.

In 1860 Altamira was still living in Ogden. She was given a home of her own, a log house with furnishings and a cow provided which was pastured with a neighbor's herd. In the past fifteen years she had borne her family of six amid the hardships of pioneer life. Despite her poor health at this time, she lived twenty-three more years. She buried her youngest daughter Lucy Ann at the age of 13 on Jan. 3, 1866. Then her eldest daughter Ellen Cordelia married Wm. Geo. Lamoreaux. They had six children but twenty days after the youngest, John was born, Ellen Cordelia died. Her mother heart was tried for she loved her children.

On the 25th of Dec., 1876, Luman, reflecting back, records in his diary, "Thirty years ago this day, Altamira and I received our endowments in the temple which we helped build in Nauvoo."

Altamira was moved to Harrisville, where she lived to see her three sons married and become successful citizens in good standing in the Church and community. The two older boys made their homes in Harrisville, made their own adobes and layed them up, assisting each other. The Noah Shurtliff home is still there. Francis' home, where several children were born, was located on Harrisville Road adjoining the new highway to the north, at the intersection of Wall Avenue and Harrisville Road. Charles Vincent, Altamira's youngest son, chose to make his home in Idaho.

Altamira lived to be sixty-six years old and died on July 30th, 1883 (eight years before I was born). She was buried in the Shurtliff family plot in the Ogden City Cemetery alongside two other wives, Cynthia and Mary Eliza, and her children, Lucy Ann and Samuel Darwin, who had preceded her in death.

For the forty years that I have lived in Ogden, I have personally placed on her grave each year, with few exceptions, a flower, expressing my appreciation, sympathy and love for my pioneer grandmother who embraced the Gospel and joined the Church during its time of persecution. It is evident that she sacrificed and endured much in the westward move. All this, however, was not without blessings. In the one hundred years between 1857 and 1957 she contributed to this commonwealth, nine hundred souls, including 46 grandchildren, 171 great grandchildren, 516 second great grandchildren and approximately 161 third great grandchildren. These descendants have been faithful to their pioneer heritage.

Most of this information was gleaned from the personal journal of Luman Andros Shurtliff combined with information received from my father, Francis M. Shurtliff, second son of Luman A. and Altamira. Some of the material if from records and statistics that I have kept.

BIOGRAPHY OF LEWIS WARREN SHURTLIFF

The ancestors of Lewis W. Shurtliff, a resident of the Weber Stake of Zion, were of old Puritan stock, the first of the name in America being William Shurtliff, who came from England to the Plymouth colony in 1634. Some late branches of the family moved westward in 1811, and Brother Shurtliff's progenitors settled about that time in Ohio on the Western Reserve. While an infant, his parents became members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The family went to Kirtland, Ohio, in 1838; from there they moved to Far West, Mo., and thence to Nauvoo, Ill., and thence to Council Bluffs, Iowa, following with patience the buffetings and vicissitudes of the people of their chosen faith. Lewis' father, Luman A. Shurtliff, took an active part in the early days of the church; and, being a mason by trade, was privileged to work on many of the historic buildings erected in the days of the Prophet. In the spring of 1851 the family began their long journey to Utah with ox teams, arriving in Salt Lake City, Sept. 23rd of the same year. Shortly afterwards they settled in Weber county, in what is now called Harrisville; but when the Indian trouble came on, they went to live in Bingham's Fort, near Ogden. During this trouble Lewis W. Shurtliff was a lieutenant in the militia organized for self-defense. When a young boy he was ordained a Deacon at Council Bluffs and was subsequently ordained to the various grades of the Priesthood, in their order, after coming to Utah. In the fall of 1855, he was called on a mission to Salmon River, Idaho (then Eastern Oregon), where several small companies had been sent as colonists and missionaries to the Indians. They were the first white men who plowed a furrow and broke the soil of that territory. He was only twenty-one years of age when called on this most dangerous colonization expedition. While there he married Louisa C. Smith, Jan. 4, 1858. He remained there until 1858; during this time the Indians caused them much annoyance and some trouble. Finally, they had a severe encounter, in which two Elders were killed and several wounded, and all their cattle and horses were stolen by the Indians. After being imprisoned for thirty days, they were rescued by a company of about two hundred men from Utah. When Elder Shurtliff returned to Ogden in 1858, he found that the community had gone south because of the Johnston Army trouble, and on the return of the Saints to their homes, he settled in Ogden, where he purchased property. In 1863, he went to Florence, on the Missouri River, in a company under Captain Thomas E. Ricks, for the purpose of meeting and bringing the emigrating Saints and their freight to Utah. His wife died in the fall of 1866, and in the Spring of 1867 he was called on a mission to Great Britain with other missionaries. Responding to the call, he, together with other missionaries, went by mule teams to Julesburg, Nebr.,

which was then the western terminus of the Union Pacific Railway. While in England he presided successively over the Nottingham and London conferences and travelled extensively through England, Scotland and Wales. He also visited Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Germany, France and Italy, and attended meetings with the Saints in most of those countries. On returning home, he was appointed Bishop of Plain City, which office he held until 1883, when he was called back to Ogden and appointed president of the Weber Stake of Zion. This was done at a conference held in Ogden, Jan. 21, 1883. From 1866 to 1872 his time was mostly spent in the missionary field. April 10, 1872, he married Emily M. Wainwright In 1883 he was elected county commissioner of Weber county and remained in that office until 1886. During that time he was a member of the constitutional convention and was elected to The Territorial Legislature in 1886. The same year he was elected probate judge of Weber county and re-elected to both these offices in 1888. In 1889, he was elected county commissioner and served in that capacity until 1894. In 1896 and 1898 he served in the upper house of the State Legislature. For a number of years he has been connected with the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, which organizations are working for the development and advancement of the western arid and semi-arid regions.--Taken from the Latter-Day Saint Biographical Encyclopedia, and sent to author by Nellie E.
